

Globalex Workshop on Lexicography and Neology, 2021.

Focus on Coronavirus-related Neologisms

31 AUGUST 2021 (CEST)

09:30-09:40	OPENING	Annette Klosa-Kückelhaus, Ilan Kernerman
09:40-10:00	Neologisms in New Zealand Sign Language: A case study of Covid-19 pandemic-related signs	Mireille Vale, Rachel McKee, Sara P. Alexander	New Zealand	NZSL
10:00-10:20	Neoterm or neologism? A closer look at the determinologisation process	Rute Costa, Raquel Silva, Margarida Ramos, Ana Salgado, Sara Carvalho, Bruno Almeida	Portugal	EN, PT
10:20-10:40	Social semantic variation of English Covid-related neologisms	Quirin Würschinger, Barbara McGillivray, Hans-Jörg Schmid	Germany and UK	EN
10:40-11:00	Wiktionary's revision history for uncovering lexical innovations related to topical events	Franck Sajous	France	EN, FR
11:00-11:15	BREAK
11:15-11:35	The Oxford English Dictionary and the language of Covid-19	Danica Salazar, Kate Wild	UK	EN
11:35-11:55	Usage analysis of Korean neologisms related to COVID-19 and their description in Korean lexicography	Hyeonah Kang, Jinsan An, Kilim Nam	Korea	KO
11:55-12:15	Corona-related neologisms: A challenge for Croatian standardology and lexicography	Milica Mihaljević, Lana Hudeček, Kristian Lewis	Croatia	HR
12:15-12:35	How the COVID-19 emergency is changing the Hungarian language. Building a Hungarian/Italian/English glossary of the COVID-19 pandemic	Judit Papp	Italy	EN, HU, IT
12:35-12:50	BREAK
12:50-13:10	The neologisms of the COVID-19 pandemic in European Portuguese: From media to dictionary	Sílvia Barbosa, Susana Duarte Martins	Portugal	PT
13:10-13:30	Lexicographic detection and representation of Spanish neologisms in the covid pandemic	Pedro J. Bueno, Judit Freixa	Spain	ES
13:30-13:50	Lexicographic representation and productivity of Spanish neological resources during the COVID-19 pandemic	Andreína Adelstein, Victoria de los Ángeles Boschiroli	Argentina	ES
13:50-14:10	Spanish lexical creativity in the covid pandemic: Neologisms and occasionalisms	Magdalena Coll, Mario Barité	Uruguay	ES
14:10-14:30	DISCUSSION & WRAP-UP	Annette Klosa-Kückelhaus, Ilan Kernerman		